

About the registration and the processing of your data.

In order to become a member of The Presentations Platform - TPP- you are required to fill in our registration form. This involves providing a limited number of actual personal data (such as name, address data, age) and some professional or study related data. TPP does not ask for financial data.

- Reasons why TPP registers these data:

- for enforcing copyright protection; TPP enables their members to use all kinds of materials that are mostly protected by copyrights. In this respect, registration of the provided data is necessary to identify and prevent misuse of available materials;
- for providing general or legal information; sometimes it may be necessary to inform you and/or other members about affairs such as modifications or changes regarding the website structure, changes or additions to the website content, modifications or improvements concerning the website security, legal issues, and such;
- for providing specific or business related information; TPP is mainly focused on rendering Business-to-Business services to professionals and organizations within educational and adjacent sectors. In this respect, TPP may inform you and/or other (professional) members about services or offers from TPP, from TPP's partners or from other professional members, that could be of commercial importance to your profession or to your organization.

- How TPP saves your data:

TPP saves your data by way of data-encryption in a secured database, which is only accessible through an SSL (Secure Sockets Layer) certified internet connection. Only the data you have provided are recorded in this database.

You are entitled to examine your data that TPP have recorded at all times; you can indicate this on the contact form (which can be found through the 'contact'-button).
